Fund Manager's Report

The Fund increased by 19.12% during the month, outperformed the benchmark by 13.91%.

On the macro front, the month brought notable headlines but limited resolution. The Trump–Xi summit drew significant attention but produced few concrete outcomes on trade, while US-Iran diplomatic engagements saw mixed progress, contributing to volatility in oil prices and rates. Talks around a ceasefire extension and further negotiations advanced, though key details remain unresolved. At the corporate level, strong momentum from leading chipmakers and hardware providers reinforced confidence in sustained AI infrastructure demand. Investment remains robust across hyperscalers and enterprises, driving continued expansion in data centers, high-performance computing, and advanced networking, with broad-based demand across the AI hardware stack.

In the face of continued macro uncertainty, we place strong emphasis on quality but are ready to capture tactical opportunities. We keep our focus on areas with strong earnings tailwinds and visibility while maintaining our valuation discipline. Next-generation connectivity continues to be the foundation of current and future technological innovations. We are positive on the beneficiaries of the acceleration in AI, the strategic semiconductor industry, and rising digital adoption. We stress the importance of being nimble and plan to take advantage of market dislocations to trade up for higher-quality exposures where we see an incremental positive outlook, better earnings power, and validation of our investment theses.
